

Childhood

The school of life

-Priority of childhood is to get an education

- we need to learn the skills to help us live our own life as we grow up
- The way to have a successful adult life is in childhood education

We never study our own childhood though

Living a successful life depends on how well we know the nature of our childhood

We spend 25000 hours with our parents by the age of 18

This molds our minds and how we think about different things like work and ambition and our own self

It dictates how much happiness we deserve and we think we can get

Childhood could have made us think a lot of things that we are not fully conscious of

Such as thinking that we have to be or act a certain way ignorer to be heard or to be loved

We think that everything we got through in childhood was normal and sane

This is because for a long time we have nothing to compare our life against

It can seem normal if your parents act in a harmful manner, if the father is always distant or if the mother is depressed. It seems normal that the child would have to cheer up the parents because the parents have a difficult relationship

The most oddest parents will never admit that they are odd or that there is something wrong with them

Children tend to think well of their parents and would rather think something is wrong with them than their parents

Without understanding our childhood we are doomed to be sunk down by gloomy feelings and would not understand why

We need to acknowledge without being defensive that we are in many ways a little mad and it is because of our own past

This video tells a lot about how we can never really get away from our past. It emphasizes how important the time of our childhood is. A lot of people don't think this way and think that childhood is nothing important and the child doesn't know anything and justify their actions with the child using this.

Often in our society, children are expected to be obedient but we rarely take into account what the child goes through and how it will shape him. So many things are so normalized with regards to children, that we don't care anymore of what grown ups owe children rather than focussing on what children should do for their parents.

So many behaviors in human society have long been considered normal and only recently we start to look into their causes or look into their harmful nature.

The importance of childhood is one of these things.
